

1st class menu saved by Miss Elise Lurette

Friday 12 April 1912

Miss Elise Lurette, a French passenger who was Mrs Spencer's travelling companion (more than 'maid'), used to lose her way on the Titanic. She did not speak English and she had crossed her cabin on a plan she showed to other passengers when she did not find her way. On April 12, she scratched two luncheon items on her menu - they certainly were not available after all: 'Omer Pacha Egg' and 'Welsh Rabbit'. She saved this menu from the sinking.

Acknowledgements

C. Roulet, O. Mendez, Association Francaise du Titanic

Courtesy of Olivier Mendez

www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2011 and third parties (ref: #2419)

URL : <http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/1st-class-menu-saved-miss-elise-lurette.html>

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

