

50 Years After: A Memory of the Titanic

by Rosemary Mossien

Times-Tribune

1962

BY ROSEMARY MOSSIEN

-----
The writer of this interview was a Times-Union reporter in 1942 when she interviewed Mrs. Black on the 30th anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic. Last week, on the eve of the 50th anniversary, she talked to her again. Mrs. Mossien, the former Rosemary Hallenbeck, the wife of Herbert J. Mossien, a Bausch & Lomb executive. They live at 319 Wilmot Road, Brighton lowered that the awful realization seemed to hit everyone: The impossible was happening, the Titanic was going down."

-----

bring her on deck.

Bert grabbed my, fur one from a chair as we left, the stateroom. That 'extra' I wrapped around Mr. Fitzpatrick when we had rescued him from an overturned boat."

20 men who had been for hours on the half-submerged hulk. One of them was dead.

to meet her.

---

Copyright Encyclopedia Titanica - www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2011 and third parties (ref: #1597)
URL : <http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/50-years-after-memory-titanic.html>

---

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

