

Thomas Whiteley : Another Titanic case

The Times

Saturday 17 January 1914

In Mr Justice Darling's court yesterday Mr [W. Norman] Raeburn on behalf of the defendants in Whiteley v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Company (Limited), asked that a date should be fixed for the hearing.

He said that the plaintiff, who was a steward in the Titanic, and was injured, alleged negligent steering and unseaworthiness of the vessel, and it would be necessary for a number of nautical witnesses to attend. He suggested that the case should be heard on March 1st.

Mr Justice Darling said that the only objection was that the date would fall on a Sunday. Monday March 2nd was provisionally fixed for the hearing.

(The Times, Saturday, January 17, 1914, p.3)

Courtesy of Senan Molony

Copyright Encyclopedia Titanica - www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2012 and third parties (ref: #8940)
URL : <http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/another-titanic-case.html>

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

