

Dr. Ernest Moraweck Now Counted Among The Dead

Louisville Courier-Journal, Louisville KY

1912

F. Leingruber, manager of Dr. Moraweck's farm near Brandenburg yesterday gave up all hope for the safety of the former Louisville man who was a passenger aboard the Titanic and who is reported as missing. Mr. and Mrs. Leingruber learned through a mutual friend that Dr. Moraweck's sister, Mrs. Claudia Coldeway, of Tell City, had received a message from the White Star line offices stating that Dr. Moraweck was not among the passengers rescued and brought to New York aboard the Carpathia.

Mr. and Mrs. Leingruber, however, had received no direct message from Mrs. Coldeway nor from Ervine Moraweck, the physician's brother, who was last heard from as located at Omaha.

Courtesy of Ben Holme

Copyright Encyclopedia Titanica - www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2012 and third parties (ref: #2333)
URL : <http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/dr-ernest-moraweck-now-counted-among-dead.html>

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

