

SEALBY DEFENDS ISMAY

New York Times

Monday 22 April 1912

Tribute from Republic's Captain, Who Served Father and Son 25 Years

Special to The New York Times

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 21---Capt. Inman Sealby, commander of the steamer Republic when she was rammed by the Florida, and now studying law in the University of Michigan, would make Congress responsible for the lives of travelers on the ocean, and defends J. Bruce Ismay from the attacks made on him regarding his escape from the sinking Titanic.

Courtesy of Mark Baber

Copyright Encyclopedia Titanica - www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2012 and third parties (ref: #5539)
URL : <http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/sealby-defends-ismay.html>

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

