

Sligo Mourns

Sligo Times

Saturday 20 April 1912

In Sligo we have not been saved from mourning as four promising young men and women have given up their toll to the ocean. One of the saddest cases is that of our fellow townsman, as we may almost call him, Mr. Alfred Middleton of Ballisodane. Mr. Middleton had a very important position on the Titanic and had very probably a brilliant career in front of him. His loss will be deeply regretted by the Sligo people, with whom he was deservedly popular, and the greatest sympathy will be felt with his bereaved and sorrowing family.

Acknowledgements

Dennis Ahern, USA

Copyright Encyclopedia Titanica - www.encyclopedia-titanica.org 1996-2012 and third parties (ref: #3972)

URL : http://www.encyclopedia-titanica.org/sligo_loss.html

PDF edition provided for personal reference only.

