MR. FRANK ANDREW,
of Pencoyt, formerly of Lanner, who is missing. There is now no hope that he was saved.

THE TITANIC DISASTER.

The late Mr. Frank Andrew.

On Sunday evening at St. Andrew's Church, the vicar (the Rev. R. Prior) preached an impressive and appropriate sermon to a large congregation. Taking as his text Psalm cvii., verses 23 and 24, he made special reference to the Titanic disaster. The service seemed more impressive as Mr. Frank Andrew, a highly-respected inhabitant of Pencoyt, lost his life on board the ill-fated ship. He leaves a widow and one child to mourn his loss, for whom the greatest sympathy is felt. The offerings next Sunday will be for those suffering from the Titanic disaster. The sermons will be preached by the Rev. W. J. Wyon, rector of Ufford, Suffolk.

CAMBORNE.

AT CAMBORNE Wesley church on Sunday evening Mr. Johns sang the solo "Light of the world."
CAMBORNE CRICKET CLUB has started practising at Roshnar. The pitch is in an excellent state, and a successful season is anticipated. The first match will take place on Saturday against the Students.
CAMBORNE MARKET being favoured with beautiful weather on Saturday, a large number of people came to town. Butter, eggs and fat sold fairly well, the supply being in fair demand, but there

No news of Carnkie lady and her two children.

Mrs. Edith Treasestall Pescock (nee Nile) a native of Carnkie, near Redruth, and a daughter of Mrs. Nile of that place, booked in the Titanic from Southampton with her little girl and boy, Treasestall and Alfred. Previous to sailing she sent a picture postcard of the Titanic to her sister, Mrs. Goldsworthy, of Casfield Terrace, Redruth, with the message that this was the boat she was about to sail in. The names of the three appear in the published lists of third class passengers, but nothing further has since been heard of them, nor have the most anxious searches of the lists of saved resulted in the discovery of their names. Mrs. Pescock was born at Carnkie 28 years ago, and was married in London six years since. It is greatly feared that she and her children are among the missing, but, hoping against hope, the relatives are still endeavouring to get information.

and versatile turn. The ventriloquist achieves most happy results with his little figure, the doll also scoring with his funny sayings. It is a most amusing trifle. The song and stories are most diverting. His business is exceedingly humorous and keeps the house in laughter from beginning to end. He created a deal of fun which increased in volume as time went on, and he is sincerely to be congratulated upon his skill and naturalness as a ventriloquist. The pictures are still staple items in the rest
